

Quick Facts about Why and How the Federal Government Should Continue to Fund Vital Infrastructure in the New Age of Public Austerity

Why the Federal Government Should Continue Investing in Infrastructure

- The Constitution charges the federal government with facilitating interstate commerce, including supporting interstate highways, airways and waterways.
- Neglecting infrastructure undermines economic growth, weakening our power and security.